

Cory first to test pilot Latch-Key program

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Cory Elementary School is the first of the five city elementary schools to test the new Latch-Key program, which is geared to help students whose parents work before and after school hours.

A number of Romulus parents have been asking for the program, according to Latch-Key Coordinator Kathy Darnell.

"The program has already been instituted at Cory, and the rest of the elementary schools will begin the program hopefully by this coming September," Darnell said. "The program runs from 7 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. until 6 p.m. Monday through Friday."

Students first through sixth grade are eligible for the program. Darnell said a recent survey initiated by the elementary schools requesting whether or not parents wanted such a program which prompted the organization of Latch-Key.

"We received a very good response," Darnell said. "We have a person who comes in at the designated times and plans activities with the children. The students can do personal work if they want to or can join in the activities."

time and activities are planned, according to Darnell.

"Parents don't worry as much about their children with this type of program," Darnell said. "We provide a very safe and friendly environment."

The limit on the number of children allowed in the program depends on the space available. Cost for the program depends on the length of time needed for each child, according to Darnell.

"It really depends on how long each child needs to stay at the school," Darnell said. "There is a discount if a family has more than one child with the program."

The Latch-Key program has licensed individuals working with the children. Darnell said the need for such a program has definitely grown in the 1990s.

"Parents need to know there is a relatively safe place for their children to stay when they are at work," Darnell said. "There are more single households today or homes where both parents are working so this program is definitely in need."

Parents are responsible for dropping and picking up their child. Anyone interested in the program or would like more in-

Resident raises roof

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus councilmembers and Mayor Beverly McAnally tried Feb. 4 to help a resident with a 10-year-old home repair problem.

In spring 1980, resident Polly Lopez received $4,500 worth of home repair assistance through Community Development Block Grant Funds. The money was used to repair the carpet, drywall and heating facility in the home as well as a roof replacement, according to John Pollick, director of community development division.

On Feb. 4, Lopez approached councilmembers for help, stating the repairs in 1980 were not made to her satisfaction.

"They were supposed to fix my house and they didn't fix it," Lopez said. "In 1989, it rained in my house, and it leaked. In 1987, I called (Jeffrey) Martell for another grant after my husband died. Mr. Martell said he would fix it."

"They gave me a $3,000 grant and said it would cost $3,700 for the repairs. I paid the $700. I told him when they take the roof off, I want an open inspection."

Lopez explained to the councilmembers her roof is still not complete. Recently, a loan was made against Lopez's house for $4,400, she said.

"My roof is leaking and all my walls are cracked," Lopez said. "I just don't think I've had justice."

Martell updated the council on the Lopez incident. All the house problems have been taken care of, according to Martell.

Romulus Councilman Jimmie Raspberry wants to make a better community so he recently decided to throw himself in the ring for the 11th District Wayne County Board of Commissioner seat.

"I would like to have a voice for the communities in District 11," Raspberry said. "I want to carry the concerns of the people back to the commission. I want to be the kind of commissioner who pushes for answers to the communities problems."

Raspberry, a democrat, is one of eight candidates vying for the seat vacated by Milton Mack. He has 32 years of government experience, which includes sitting on various township boards and city councils.

"The airport sits in the cradle of Romulus," Raspberry said. "It's an asset to the city. Romulus has a lot of shortcom-

Inkster man is arrested

Romulus police arrested an Inkster man Feb. 8 for trying to steal a rack of cigarettes at a walk-in gas station on the 15000 block of Middle Belt.

Wendell Dixon, 33, was arraigned in the 34th District Court Feb. 10 and was charged with second-degree retail fraud. A $1,500 cash bond was set.

On Feb. 8, Dixon allegedly walked into the station market and picked up a rack of cigarettes worth $245, according to detective Lt. Kenneth Kraus.

A Feb. 20 hearing is set for Dixon in the 34th District Court.

Council requests permit fee from group

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

When representatives of the Michigan Citizens Lobby come knocking on doors in Romulus seeking donations, it will not be with the sanction of city councilmembers.

Councilmembers voted to deny the request of the group to solicit without paying the fee during the regular meeting Feb. 11.

They expressed concerns regarding the lack of tact displayed by group members during door-to-door solicitations.

"Usually, it's a group of college students trying to raise money, which I'm not opposed to," Councilman Noah Bergeron said. "I just don't think we should promote this as a city-approved project. I'm not going to vote because of pressure tactics used."

Councilman Ellis Pennington offered to amend the previous motion to approve the no-permit fee by adding language to the motion clearly stating the lack of council endorsement for the project.

Councilman Bill Wadsworth was against the project entirely and agreed with the opinion of Bergeron.

Wadsworth expressed his concerns for the validity of the group and noted he had some fears that senior citizens in the area might not completely understand the solicitation.

The Michigan Citizens Lobby is planning its annual door-to-door membership drive April through May. The Citizens Lobby is a non-profit organization supported by volunteer donations from more than 150,000 Michigan families and individuals, according to Associate Canvass Director Darlene Nixon.

"Although our rights to advocate political and social issues through orderly door-to-door canvassing, without undue interference by local authorities, have been upheld by the attorney general of Michigan and the Supreme Court of the United States, it is our policy to cooperate with the local authorities in every reasonable way," Nixon said. "This includes providing law enforcement officials with a list of the individuals who will be canvassing in the community so they are aware of our presence in the community and can answer inquiries they may receive from residents."

Councilmembers denied the no-fee permit with Bergeron, Fred (Junior) Block, Mayor Pro Tem Randolph Gear, Russell Lambert and Wadsworth casting the deciding votes.

REHABILITATION: THE ESSENTIAL STEP TO SUCCESSFUL CARDIAC RECOVERY

By Samir Dabbous, M.D.

One of the most common questions patients ask after a heart attack or bypass surgery is "will I be able to resume my work or previous activities?" The answer in most cases is yes, if the patient participates in a comprehensive cardiac rehabilitation program.

EXERCISE, NUTRITION, SUPPORT GROUPS

Cardiac rehabilitation is an essential step that leads a patient from major cardiac failure back to a normal lifestyle. A well-organized and staffed rehabilitation program takes the patient step-by-step through an individually tailored, closely monitored exercise program. These exercises may begin in the hospital at bedside when the patient is initially recovering from surgery, and end in advanced stages where the patient is strong enough to exercise without cardiac monitoring.

In addition to physical exercise, a successful rehabilitation program includes nutritional counseling, support groups, and educational lectures about how to stay healthy after a heart attack or surgery.

These components help patients become physically and emotionally stronger, therefore preventing the recurrence of heart attack or need for additional surgery.

GOALS

An effective cardiac rehabilitation program should help patients:

- regain confidence in their ability to participate in physical activities without any undue risk;
- improve their sense of well-being through increased fitness and behavior modification;
- maintain routine home-life activities, stay active, and control weight — all of which reduce the risk of future heart attacks; and
- gain self-confidence and acceptance of their disease through group therapy. Sharing thoughts and feelings with people who have been through the same situation helps patients cope with their disease in a more positive way.

If you recently have experienced a heart attack or heart surgery, or if you wish to maintain your fitness level and prevent the risk of heart attack, ask your physician about a cardiac rehabilitation program near you, or call the Oakwood Cardiac Rehabilitation Center at 561-6400.

Poetry promotes patriotism

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

A mother's response in the early days of Operation Desert Shield has blossomed into a fund-raising project for support groups and a business.

"When the first news of the war came out last month, I was so distraught that I wrote some poems to express my feelings," said Terrie Poore, whose step-son, Sgt. Michael Poore, was deployed to the Persian Gulf. "I really wrote the poems for myself and my step-son, but I brought them to a local support group for families of ODS troops and they liked them."

"One of the poems, If They Could See You, is about the war protesters. I had it printed on parchment paper and I sent it to President George Bush. The second one, Early Days of Desert Storm, was written for my step-son."

After the poems became popular, Poore designed a sweatshirt using the picture of an American eagle with the silhouette of a soldier on the front along with the words, "To keep freedom, support our troops." The Desert Storm poem was then printed on the back.

"If you wear one of these shirts, I guarantee you'll make a lot of friends and prompt a lot of conversations. Everyone wants to know where they came from and now to get one," Poore said.

Support group members asked for copies of the poems and others in her hometown of Columbiaville also requested copies of the poems. An officer of the support group and a local union ordered additional poems and shirts, and the sales began to snowball.

Poore brought samples of the poems and sweatshirt to her sister, Betty Boyer of Elwell Road, last Wednesday. The two women brought the samples to Ginger Bruder of Miss Ginger's on Main Street, and made arrangements for the gift shop to stock the parchment paper poems. Bruder will take orders for the sweatshirts at her store.

Precautions make flying abroad safer

As the Persian Gulf War continues to rage on, more Americans are staying on the ground and canceling flights abroad.

Some individuals, however, must travel for business purposes. Romulus Uniglobe Courtesy Travel on Merriman Road presented a seminar Jan. 30 on the issue of terrorism and what cautious steps need to be taken for the business traveler.

About 75 percent of its business is in corporate travel, according to Uniglobe Regional President Geraldine McNerney.

"It is our obligation to give our clients access to information that, frankly, can save their lives," McNerney said.

Keynote speaker was Margot

Fox, who has been a contractor with the U.S. State Department for the past 10 years. Fox served as an escort officer and interpreter. Her experiences include security briefings and anti-terrorism programs. She has traveled to more than 60 countries.

"A higher level of awareness of security issues is essential for the personal safety of the business traveler," Fox said.

Romulus Emergency Management representative Margaret LeDuc gave a brief overview of the seminar.

"Security is tighter in national and international airports," LeDuc said. "Uniglobe officials gave safety hints to people traveling abroad."

Some of the hints included warning travelers not to leave any baggage behind to be picked up at a later date. It's best to take all baggage when leaving the airport, according to Uniglobe representatives.

"It was recommended to get the necessary medical insurance that will cover the individual overseas," LeDuc said. "They also mentioned looking into getting kidnap insurance. Some airlines may restrict individuals carrying laptop computers or hair dryers."

If traveling abroad, Uniglobe representatives recommend having small bills of the currency of destination for taxi fares or for small emergencies.

"Don't trust anyone who asks to drive you somewhere, you just don't know who the person is or what they are talking about," LeDuc said. "It's recommended travelers be familiar with the local customs. Put the passport in the hotel safe and carry a picture of yourself instead."

Other safety tips include:

- Don't carry the camera on board, pack it in the suitcase.
- Important papers should be packed away in the suitcase.
- Carry enough cash in order to buy a plane ticket home in case of an emergency.
- Make sure the passport doesn't expire.
- Carry the necessary visas.
- Don't give your itinerary to many people.

• Try and blend in with the dress of the country so as not to stand out.

"The representatives mentioned it's a good idea to check where the American Embassy is wherever the person is traveling," LeDuc said. "Know which doctors you can contact and the political situation of the country you are traveling to."

Besides representatives from Uniglobe, other speakers on terrorism included Fred Huston, head of security for Northwest Airlines, and a 29-year veteran of the New York Police Department, and Barry Bumgardner, representative of the security division of the Federal Aviation Authority.

Chance meeting a blessing

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

It was a matter of chance when Romulus Councilman Jimmie Raspberry met Wandra by phone and then married her a few months later.

"I want you to know, I don't date every woman who calls me," Raspberry said jokingly. "She had a fine voice, and I asked her to dinner and a movie."

After dating about 14 months, Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally married the Raspberrys Jan. 31 in City Hall. More than a dozen friends and family members attended.

Mrs. Raspberry initially called Mr. Raspberry earlier last year because she had a problem with the city and wanted to know if Raspberry could help.

"I left a message at first," Mrs. Raspberry said. "What started off as business turned into friendship."

He is 70 years old and she is 37. Before Mr. Raspberry met his future wife face to face, he pictured her as a short stout woman. He was a little surprised when they finally met for a date.

"I was surprised she was such an attractive young lady," Raspberry said. "We started out dating slowly. We mainly were building a friendship first. We started going to shows like Diana Ross at The Fox Theatre and Luther Vandross. We found out we were very compatible."

Mrs. Raspberry wasn't even looking for a mate when she met Mr. Raspberry. She said it was Mr. Raspberry's politeness and his ability to discuss anything that attracted her to him.

"He's just a nice guy," Mrs. Raspberry said. "We have a very good friendship."

"I was saying to myself how lucky I am," Mr. Raspberry said.

Between the two, the Raspberrys have seven children. Mr. Raspberry is a widower and former union representative for Ford Motor Co. He has five children, including Rose, 43; Kenneth, 44; Rosalyn, 48; Brenda, 49; and Carolyn, 50.

Mrs. Raspberry used to work with computers. She plans on going back to college to study computer business management. This is Mrs. Raspberry's second marriage. She has two children: Romona, 10; and Alana, 16.

Local residents named to boards, commissions

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus councilmembers approved a number of appointments to various boards and commissions at the regular meeting Feb. 11. The appointments were recommended by Mayor Beverly McAnally.

Recently McAnally requested that any Romulus residents interested in serving the community as a member of a board or commission contact her office. McAnally said she received an overwhelming response.

The following appointments were approved by members of the council:

- Historical Commission: Frederick Hay, Gloria Chandler, Bennett Dugan, Pearl Morris, Nell Sheppard, Donald Hermann and Clement Patrias were all reappointed to the commission. Terms will expire Dec. 9, 1991.
- Housing Commission:

Mildred Brabson was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Housing Commission. Her term will expire Feb. 26, 1996.

- Officer's Compensation Commission: Alan Hindman was appointed to replace Charles Shonta. This term to expire June 24, 1996. James Conway was appointed to replace Donald Morgan. The term to expire June 24, 1997.
- Police, Fire and Safety Commission: John Percy and Fred Anderson were reappointed to the commission. Percy's term will expire Feb. 13, 1994, while Anderson's will expire Feb. 23, 1994.
- Recreation Commission: Dorothy Icenogle was appointed with a term to expire Jan. 23, 1993. Tereatha Allen, Dan Bales and Walter Goeckel were appointed with terms to expire Jan. 23, 1994. Pauline Calhoun was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Dan Doss, term will expire Jan. 23.

Tanya Hill will replace Amy Anderson. This term will expire Jan. 23, 1993.

- Zoning Board of Appeals: James Radford was appointed to the board. This term to expire June 30, 1992. Tom Williams was appointed to the board. Term to expire June 30, 1993. Stanley Kreft was appointed to replace Donald Treder. Term to expire June 30, 1993.

Romulus boards and commissions include: zoning, planning, police, fire and safety commission, board of appeals, historical commission, charter review committee, cable commission, recycling committee and the economic development commission.

Recently, councilmembers approved the establishment of a new board: Construction Board of Appeals. The CBA serves somewhat the same functions as the appeals board, according to Assistant Building Director Willie Watson.

Repairs

"We corrected all the problems that were out there that we saw in 1989," Martell said. "Our program states we can only visit a house one time and can only spend $7,000. In 1980, she spent $4,400 of the CDBG funds. We corrected the problems."

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry offered his support to Lopez.

"I realize your problem," Raspberry said. "But you can't go back 10 years and fix something. I agree it's a botch job."

McAnally said she offered her advice to Lopez a while back on what kind of roof to choose.

"I recommended to her to have a membrane roof," McAnally said. "It was a little more money, but she didn't want to pay because it exceeded the grant amount. The other thing is we let her pick the contractor for the job. She picked the man to do the work. We normally don't do that."

Pollick outlined the history repairs completed at Lopez home by a letter to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"In the spring of 1986, Mrs. Lopez received additional housing assistance," Pollick said. "Following careful investigation, the city determined the requested repairs were beyond the liability of the original contract. In an effort to address this situation, however, the city offered on two occasions to perform additional repairs through their current deferred loan program. The homeowner rejected any such assistance at that time."

In 1989, Lopez returned to the city asking for home repair assistance, according to Pollick. After a thorough re-examination of the project, the city agreed to place the project under an emergency status and complete a roof replacement in spring 1990.

"Since this program is a deferred interest-free loan with a $3,000 funding limit, the homeowner is responsible for providing any balance of funds necessary to complete the repair," Pollick said.

Other city problems include not keeping Romulus roads in shape and more county incentives for residents who surround the airport, according to Raspberry.

"I like to listen to the problems of the people," Raspberry said. "The fact that I served 32 years in city and township government gives me leverage on the problems that cities and townships are affected by.

"If elected, I plan to periodically attend various council and board meetings in the communities with advice for the communities as to what the county shall and would do for them."

Raspberry said his campaign will be clean and honest and will be based on issues, not personalities.

Businesses award Romulus teachers

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

A few Romulus businesses involved with the Partnerships for Education program recently presented the Romulus Junior High School with two awards to thank the school.

On Feb. 7, two staff members were presented with certificates by the following businesses:

- Courtyard Marriott donated one overnight stay certificate.
- Romulus Marriott donated a dinner-for-two certificate in the Courtyard Garden Restaurant.

The donations were an opportunity for the businesses to say "thanks" to the school for doing an outstanding job, according to Ed Clark, coordinator for Partnerships for Education.

"It's an attempt by the school to recognize the teachers and staff," Clark said. "It's another way for the businesses to assist with the education process. The schools and businesses continue to work together to make a difference for the students."

About 60 businesses in Romulus are involved with the partnership program, which assists district schools to further education for students from elementary through high school.

Each month, junior high officials throw staff names in a hat and a few are chosen for the award, according to Principal Jesse Meriweather.

"The whole staff spends extra time with the kids," Meriweather said. "The award gives them recognition."

The teachers and staff go above and beyond the call of duty, according to Meriweather. Receiving the awards were teacher Chris Hobson and custodian June Nathaniel.

Clark is trying to get more Romulus businesses involved with helping the schools. Recently, Detroit Metropolitan Airport, Little Caesars and Romulus McDonald's have agreed to work with Wick Elementary School.

Puppies need loving care, too

If and when you decide to buy a puppy, make certain this is exactly what you want to do and discuss that decision with the entire family. Bringing a dog into the home is wonderful and I encourage that move 100 percent, but if you are the least bit uncertain you're doing the right thing, don't do it at all. Your gut feeling here should not be ignored.

Many of the calls I receive regarding dog behavior are from people who, in all honesty, should never have got that dog. Dogs are not always neat. They do shed, they do get into things, they do go through their rebellious chewing phase, they do forget they're housebroken (still another story), they do spill food on the floor and run off with the teen-ager's favorite Nikes. Dog's need - no, demand - attention from the family. They're not always selective, anyone will do. Schedules have to be changed or at least rearranged with a puppy in the house. It can't be left "forever" without some companionship and food and water. You have to let the dog out-side to relieve himself. You should be grooming, or at least, brushing the dog three to four times a week. The dog needs periodic visits to the veterinarian for shots or for any ailments or injuries you notice. In the summer, the dog must be protected from mosquitoes while outside. (Of course, Heartworm preventative medicine is a must.) You really have to watch your pet all the time to see that he is as safe and protected as you would want your children to be. Yes, I did say your children. After all, the dog has become a member of your family and should be treated accordingly.

Then there's the question of leaving the dog while you're on vacation. Where is best? Which kennel will take the best care of your pet? Can someone house sit? Will that person care about your dog and for your dog the way you and your family does? How will the dog feel being left with someone else other than the family? Will he mourn your absence? Will he survive? Good grief, will he know you're coming back home to him or will he think you've abandoned him? These are only some of the questions you should consider once you bring a dog home to live with you.

If you think a dog's habits are disgusting or revolting, then you are not a "dog person." If having to care for some animal who doesn't speak a thank you or pat you on the back when you've tended to some hurt or protected him from diseases with inoculations or brushed him till his coat shines becomes a "pain in the neck," then you are not suited for dog ownership.

If, on the other hand, you feel comfortable sitting in the same room with him, if his looking up at you with those beautiful, soft, Bambi-type eyes gives you enormous joy, if having him sleep alongside your bed at night and nudge you awake each morning better than that dumb alarm clock and act each and every time you enter the house that you're the best thing that could have happened to him, brings you constant happiness, then you're exactly what every dog needs and deserves. You're a dog lover.

Yes, dogs or cats or birds or fish or any pet taken into your home are satisfying and enjoyable. Just remember, everything takes some type of work. Even the purchase of new carpeting means it will need vacuuming on a regular basis. So when you finally decide on buying a pet, make certain it's a wise purchase. You'd do as much when buying a car.

The grass isn't really greener

Canton Township, it appears, has some rather uncooperative neighbors.

Officials in the Township of Plymouth are making a well-publicized bid to purchase the privately-owned Mettetal Airport located in Canton following the decision of the Canton Township Board of Trustees not to seek municipal ownership of the facility.

Plymouth officials are now looking to the airport as a revenue source for their city coffers and are taking steps to join with the city of Plymouth in an operational agreement for Mettetal. If there was hope for enhanced profitability of the airport and if it could, in fact, become a profit center, we wonder at the reasons Canton did not seek to purchase the land and buildings. Why, after long and arduous study and evaluation did these elected officials not seek to own and manage this airport tucked into their jurisdiction?

We believe it was because they sought the counsel and advice of both professional and private financial experts and listened to the concerns of the residents they were elected to represent. While there were several local advocates of township ownership of the airport who made cogent and logical arguments for their case, in the end, after all the sound and fury, the Canton Board of Trustees made a decision based on the best information available. They decided it would better serve and benefit the residents of Canton to leave the airport in private hands.

Now officials in Plymouth have decided that the promise of financial gain and "convenience" for their constituents outweighs the decision made by their neighboring elected officials. They have, in fact, decided that the welfare and best use of this facility is to benefit them, no matter the cost to Canton.

While the two townships have worked in harmony on many other projects and long been good neighbors, this situation has caused a great deal of disharmony and ill will on both sides. Canton officials have expressed their disapproval of the possibility that Plymouth will be making decisions and managing a large section of Canton property. They felt that left in private hands, the airport area could eventually provide development and a higher tax base for them—rather than a convenience and profit center for another community.

Sour grapes? No, we don't think so. We agree that Plymouth officials probably have every legal right to pursue this project, although those seeking to recall them from office may disagree with us. We do feel, however, that it is somewhat less than proper or civil for one municipality to pit itself in such direct opposition to another for financial goals.

Plymouth officials apparently feel that they can do what the best advice available told Canton officeholders they couldn't—that is manage the airport in a profitable and safe manner.

We wonder at such arrogance.

The future looks dim

Once again, the Wayne-Westland Community School District has fallen victim to cuts in services and supplies to students.

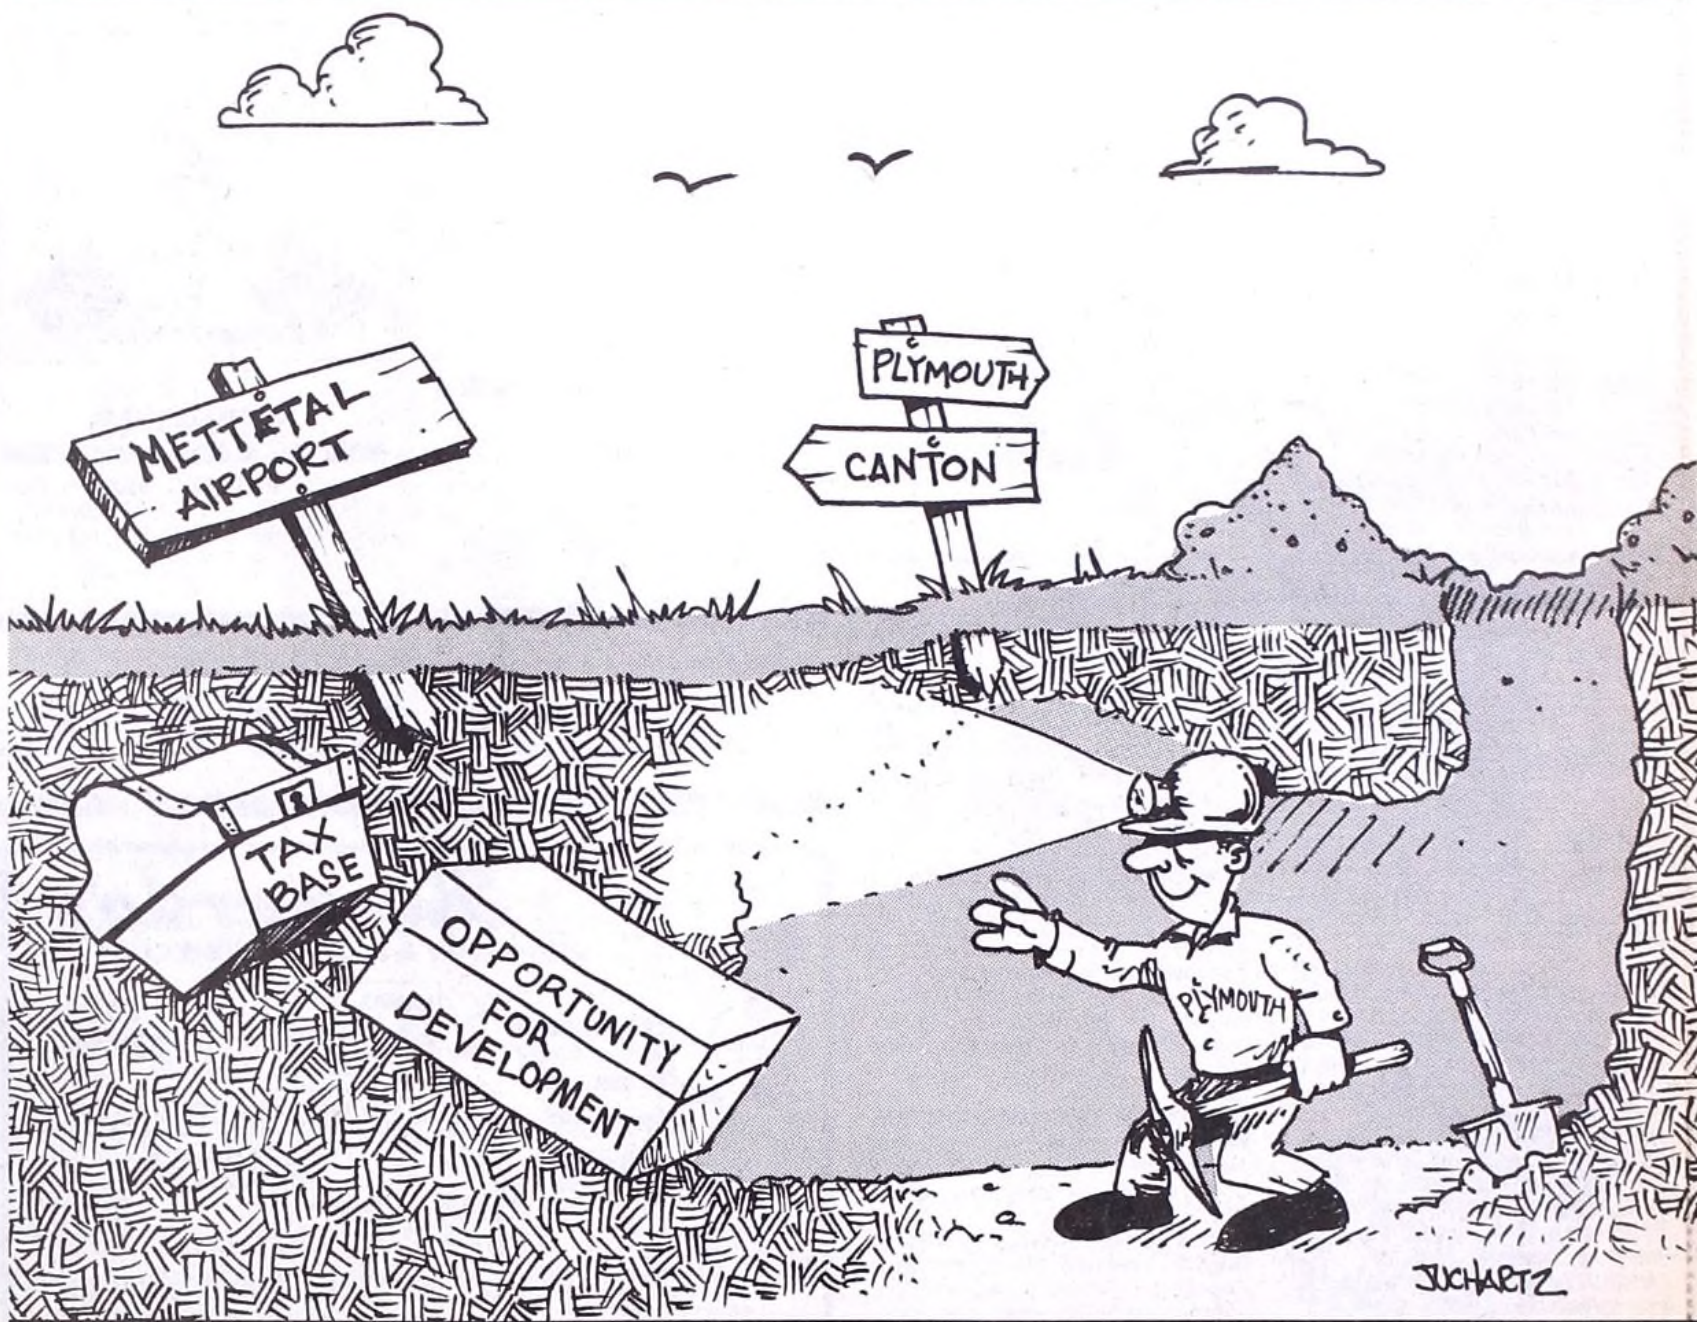

These latest efforts at providing a balanced budget will result in the actual loss of school bus services to children along with severely restricted classes and educational opportunities.

The education process in the Wayne-Westland area will be effectively crippled by these latest service reductions. Members of the board of education and the superintendent of schools have expressed their extreme dismay at the peril to the education of children these actions will cause.

The solution, obviously, is in the budget. There must be money to educate children properly. Twice the voters in the Wayne-Westland district have refused to approve the millage increase necessary to continue services for their children.

We urge those negative voters to re-think their objections. Even in these desperate economic times, we must preserve our children's education.

Our children are the future and the future is in our hands.

Deep well only one of many proposed projects

I was interested to read the anonymous letter in last week's Romulus Roman titled, "Please tell the Rest of the Story."

I was impressed that someone who sounded so knowledgeable would not want their identity known. Curious about such motives, I began to check the information with some folks at City Hall.

First, I learned that the mentioned deep well is only one of many similar projects that are, and have been proposed, in Romulus and other communities along Interstate-275 as a result of geologic formations and increased need for more responsible waste disposal. Do you, Anon, still dump your waste oil, etc., in the drainage ditch near your home? However, the project, I am told, is far from guaranteed, inasmuch as the EPA and DNR are the site designating agencies, not the City of Romulus.

Recently, the Safety Clean hazardous waste facility designed for Goddard Road was denied. How did that happen without Anon's involvement?

The jail described to be at the "north end of Van Born" would be in Wayne, but, nevertheless, it was rejected by the Romulus City Council and it went to Hamtramck, the Youth Home was denied by the Planning commission and went to court. Testimony about the Detroit sewage sludge project (1982) revealed the then-industrial coordinator, no longer in city employment, had accepted a cash bribe to facilitate the project, and when the outcry got too loud, the project was dropped.

As to the jobs issue, it seems that jobs are even now available in the new industrial and service facilities that the city has successfully attracted in the last several years.

Romulus has witnessed, and benefited from, more than $300 million dollars in new commercial and industrial investment in the last six years. Lear Seating, Chevrolet Pontiac of Canada, Woodbridge Foam Co., Edgewood Tool, Precision Hardware, Spirotex, Metro Airport Center, W. A. Whalen Co., United Brass, Oakwood Industrial Park, Marriott Hotels, to name a few of those listed for me, provide hundreds of well-paying jobs, not to mention those at the airport.

From all I can gather, the future of Romulus is very bright and the community can, with wise leadership, expect to continue to thrive. In fact, our recent successful school bond proposal is based upon an anticipated strong growth for the next five or more years.

Now, let's get down to what's really bothering Anon.

Budget cuts concern parents

We, the parents of Hawthorn Center for emotionally disturbed and mentally handicapped children, are very concerned of what is going to happen to our children if these budget cuts are implemented.

The State of Michigan wants to cut out programs for the Emotionally and Mentally Handicapped Children, which will include cutting out our Day School Programs and Early Intervention Programs. This means our Day School kids will be put back into their community school districts, which our community school districts are not equipped to handle, because of our children's special needs.

What will happen to our children if these budget cuts happen? Where will our children go? These are some of the questions our parents have to fear about.

A lot of parents feel that we will have no where to go to get help for our children. We feel that our children may end up on the streets with drug usage or maybe in prison later in their lives. With the budget cuts as they stand now, many Drug Rehabilitation units and prisons are also being cut. We believe Early Intervention with our children who's lives have become unmanageable is the only way to keep them from destructive destiny.

I have a 7-year-old daughter who attends Hawthorn Center on impatient care. I also attend meetings with the Social Worker and family meetings. Since we have been getting help from the Hawthorn Center, I have seen some improvement for both of us. I don't know where my daughter or myself would be now if it wasn't for the doctors, therapists, social workers. My main concern is we will need these programs following the impatient care, and they will not be available for us.

If they close these programs then maybe eventually they will want to close out the impatient care. I don't know what I will do then, and I'm not only speaking for myself, but for a lot of other concerned parents I have talked with from the Hawthorn Center, Lafayette Clinic, Yorkwoods Center and Engstrom Center.

It really upsets us parents. We are all trying hard to get help for our children and ourselves. If these budget cuts are not re-evaluated, what kind of future can we expect from our children.

Patriotism, too, has rules

Patriotic displays to honor the troops in Operation Desert Storm are appearing in homes and businesses throughout western Wayne County.

Along with yellow bows and tri-colored ribbons, area residents are also displaying the American flag in increasing numbers. As a result, many first-time flag owners have been posing questions about the proper way to fly and hang the American flag.

Laws related to the patriotic customs and observances of the flag are found in the United States Code, Title 4, Chapter 10, which states, "It is the universal custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flagstaffs in the open. However, when a patriotic effect is desired, the flag may be displayed 24 hours a day if properly illuminated during the hours of darkness."

Some questions have arisen in local communities about the propriety of displaying the American flag at night. According to the U.S. code, the 24-hour flag display is permissible only if the flag is properly illuminated at night.

In the booklet, Our Flag, printed by the 100th Congress, the following rules are listed:

- The flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously.
- The flag should not be displayed on days when the weather is inclement, except when an all-weather flag is displayed.
- The flag should be displayed daily on or near the main administration building of every public institution.
- The flag should be displayed in or near every polling place on election days.
- The flag should be displayed during school days in or near every schoolhouse.

Although it is appropriate to display the American flag every day, it should be displayed especially on New Year's Day, Inauguration Day (Jan. 20), Lincoln's Birthday, Washington's Birthday, Easter Sunday, Mother's Day, Armed Forces Day, Memorial Day, Flag Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Constitution Day (Sept. 17), Columbus Day, Navy Day (Oct. 27), Veterans Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas and such other days as may be proclaimed by the president.

When carried in a procession with another flag or flags, the American flag should be either on the marching right or in front of the center. It should not be displayed on a parade float except from a staff.

The American flag should be at the center and at the highest point of the group when a number of flags of states or pennants are displayed. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the blue field should be uppermost and to the right of the flag, which would be to the observer's left. When displayed in a window, the flag should be displayed in the same way.

The U.S. code guidelines state the flag should never be displayed with union down, except as a distress signal and it should never touch anything beneath it, such as the ground or water.

Quest for gold

Belleville leads area wrestlers to Class A regional state tournament

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

State-ranked Belleville and undefeated Steven Davis will lead local wrestlers to the Class A state regional individual championships Saturday at Plymouth High School.

Davis, who wrestled at 130 pounds during the regular season, trimmed five pounds for the districts to compete at 125. He pinned three of his four district opponents and won the gold with a 17-1 victory over a fifth-ranked Temperance Bedford opponent.

Davis has compiled an unblemished 43-0 record for the 1990-91 campaign. He will probably carry the onus of top seed at the Salem regional. The regional will begin at 10 a.m.

Davis was one of five Belleville grapplers who qualified for the regional. Wrestlers must finish no lower than fourth in order to qualify for the regional.

Belleville also will be represented by heavyweight Jim Howe, who finished second at the district. Mike Komaromi, a 160 pounder, was third, Billy Yuhus, a 135 pounder, was third and Fred Garcia, a 140 pounder, placed fourth at the district.

"I was pleased at the way our kids wrestled," said Malecek, whose team also captured the district and conference titles this year. "I would have felt better if we could have qualified a couple of more kids. But that's competition for you."

Romulus, also a Class A district champion, will be represented by two of its wrestlers at the Salem regional. Coach Norm Butler will have 112-pounder Dale Gehringer and 119-pounder Mike Scully on the mats.

Gehringer lost to Temperance Bedford wrestler Loui Tibi, 8-4, to finish with the silver medal.

However, Scully lost a controversial 6-5 decision in the finals to Bedford grappler Fred Schumacher, who narrowly missed a takedown in the closing seconds.

"It appeared that Mike had the takedown, but was not awarded it," Butler said. "Obviously, the two points would have made the difference."

The fans also apparently believed Scully had the takedown. They jeered at the referee.

In the meantime, Romulus and Belleville went their separate ways Tuesday night in search of regional team crowns. Romulus had the rougher road. If the Eagles survive Southgate Anderson in the preliminary bout, they would face the winner of the Redford Catholic Central and Temperance Bedford match. Bedford, the defending Class A state champ, is a favorite to repeat, while Catholic Central has been ranked as high as second in the state polls.

Belleville has an excellent shot at the regional title if the Tigers can get past Brighton in the first round. The winners meet the survivor of the Novi-Livonia Franklin meet in the finals.

Belleville, which finished runner-up in the state a year ago, may get its rematch with the Bedford Mules. The state individual championships will be staged Feb. 22-23, while the state team championships are March 1-2 in Kellogg Center, Grand Rapids.

Gabriel Richard wins tourney

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Coach Dennis Stoh and his Gabriel Richard volleyball team had plenty to smile about last week.

They scored a handful of firsts, including a victory at the Associated Newspapers Romulus Roman women's volleyball tournament.

Richard held off a stubborn and determined Lincoln Park team in the finals, claiming a two-game victory in the series. Richard won back-to-back 15-12 hard-fought victories.

"These kids have been just wonderful," said Stoh, who is a former Romulus High junior varsity volleyball coach. "This is their first tournament victory."

To get to the finals, Gabriel Richard had to meet and beat host Romulus High. The clash came in the semi-finals where the champions managed to turn back their foes 15-7 and 15-7.

"It was strange," Stoh said. "The kids on the other side of the net were very much part of my life. I coached the girls when they were on the junior varsity, so everybody on the court at one time or another I had coached."

Gabriel received exceptional performances from Liz Calligaro and Kristy Tharp, the team's top hitters. Calligaro and Tharp, along with Kathy Affholter, received selected all-conference and all-league.

A Class C school, Richard has a 24-4 record and that has earned it a state-ranking in Class C.

The tournament, sponsored by the Associated Newspapers, will be moved next year because the Romulus gym will be closed for repairs.

2nd-half Wayne rally leaves Glenn in dust

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne Memorial cagers decided they would take no prisoners Tuesday night and routed John Glenn 64-44.

It took the Zebras' artillery a couple of quarters before they found the range to shoot down the Rockets. Glenn rallied from a 13-5 first-period deficit to close to within 23-19 at halftime.

"The kids wanted to win this one so badly," Wayne Coach Dan Henry said. "They came out tight. In the second half, we settled down, passed the ball around more and took percentage shots."

"That was the difference."

It was a 20-point difference.

Wayne outscored John Glenn 20-11 in the third period and 21-14 in the final period, thanks to a balanced scoring attack that featured Lee Williams, Rick Barnes, Romarco Fletcher and Greg Hartman.

Williams finished the evening with a game-high 18 points, while Barnes and Fletcher chipped in 14 and 13 points, respectively. Hartman accounted for 12 points.

On the other side, Coach Pat Bennett received a couple of sterling efforts from Jackie Howard and Gamal Ahmed, who had 15 points apiece. However, the scoring fell off drastically from there.

Wayne picked up 21 of its points from the free throw line where they also missed 12 opportunities. The Rockets hit 13 of 18 attempts.

Both teams return to conference action Friday night. Wayne will host Friday to decide second-place rights in the Wolverine 'A' Conference. Belleville plays cellar-dweller Southgate Anderson, and a Tiger victory would give Coach Mike Garland the title outright.

In the meantime, the Westlanders are fighting to keep out of the cellar. They will take a 2-13 record to Farmington.

Inkster stays in title hunt

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It's a long shot, but Inkster coach George Thompson Jr. believes his team may yet get a cut of the Suburban Athletic Conference basketball title.

"We need somebody to do a job on Highland Park," said Thompson, after his team battered River Rouge 71-58 Tuesday night. "(Highland Park) has only one loss, but they still have to play Robichaud and us. We're 7-3 and have a slim chance of backing up into this title."

With Claude McReynolds finally coming around and turning in his best overall performance of the season, Inkster made short work of the Panthers. The Vikings outscored their hosts 22-10 and never looked back until they had their eighth victory in 16 starts.

McReynolds scored 11 of his game-high points in that opening period laughter, then junior Julian Flint joined in the fun and tossed in five of his career-high 19 points in the second period.

At the half, Inkster led 37-24. Both teams put 16 points on the scoreboard in the third period, and tallied 18 each in the finale.

"I feel this team is coming around now," Thompson said. "We have the playoffs ahead of us and it's a good time to hit our peak."

Rouge placed one player, Ben Benford, into the double figure scoring column. He had 15 points.

George Thompson Jr.

The Vikings are home Friday night, taking on the Willow Run Flyers. They must shoot down their SAC opponent if they want to remain in the race and challenge league-leader Highland Park Feb. 22.

Belleville gymnasts card top score

Belleville High gymnasts turned in their highest point total of the season, en route to a victory over Dearborn Edsel Ford in a non-conference meet Monday night.

With Shannon Tarris carding three first places for the Tigers, Belleville compiled a team total of 111.85 in a three-point win over the Edsel Ford T-Birds.

Tarris, a talent to contend with, scored victories on the bars, in the vault and floor exercises. The three event wins plus a second on the beam also gave her the gold in the overall event.

In the all-around competition, Jessica Monte placed third with a total of 27.95 points.

Belleville also placed second in the all-around with Ann Oles, who piled up 28.75 points.

The Tigers made it a clean sweep in the all-around with Tarris's 33.20 points.

Belleville is back in action tonight when they will take on Westland John Glenn on the road. Competition will begin at 7 p.m.

Belleville fans will get their last opportunity to see the Tigers in action at home Feb. 20.

St. Anthony loses to St. Cyprian

Todd Jamiliski pulled down 21 rebounds and scored 15 points for St. Cyprian Vikings as they handed Belleville St. Anthony a 35-28 loss at Riverview Gabriel Richard last week.

The loss was the Warriors' fourth straight and leaves them at 2-4 on the year.

St. Cyprian dominated the offensive boards, getting 21 second-shot opportunities, which led to 15 points. Mike Gobys and Tony Blask combined for 15 of the rebounds and the game with eight points apiece.

"We knew coming into the year we were weak inside, and this is the fourth game in a row we proved it," St. Anthony Coach Chuck Dyke said. "We just have to keep going out each night and pound away."

The Warriors were led by Tate Travis, who scored nine points and had 11 rebounds.

Valentine gifts need pizzazz

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH
ANP News Editor

One Detroit-area man sent his fiancée 100 balloons, 99 of which were white and the other was red. Inside the red balloon was a note that read: "You're one in a million."

Another planted a wedding proposal inside two dozen roses.

And then there was the guy who sent his love an engagement ring hidden inside a box of chocolate.

Stories of unusual valentine gifts are everywhere. From the grocery store to the post office, people tell tales of how someone else received a heart-warming gift.

But it doesn't have to be that way.

By using a little imagination, valentine gift ideas can go far beyond traditional flowers and candy, say area novelty and flower store experts.

The trick is to combine two gifts in one, such as flowers or candy with an unusual presentation. That way, the giver makes Feb. 14 a holiday to remember for years to come.

"Mostly, we receive orders for roses, but sometimes we see the unusual," said Diane Gillis, manager of The Flower Shop in Westland. "We've seen a man send a valentine gift with $100 bills folded up like fans inside flowers, or another who stuffed $10 bills inside flowers."

At Sparr's Flowers and Greenhouse in Canton Township, engagement proposals are routinely among the most unusual gift ideas during the valentine gift rush.

"We had one guy send two dozen roses to Ohio with a wedding proposal," Manager Sharon Archambeau said.

While balloons, candy and flowers are usually big hits during the valentine gift season, mixing some creativity with those gifts can change the focus of the gift.

"My brother sent his fiancée a teddy bear with a diamond pendant around the bear's neck," said Cindy Smith, manager of Kemnitz Candies in Plymouth. "He didn't tell her it was real. She had to find out for herself."

If you want something that will last longer than flowers or candy, Boudoir photography may be the perfect gift. In general terms, Boudoir photography is designed to create a picture of a woman in intimate surroundings.

"We are deluged with work," said David Nelson, a photographer with Nelson Photography in Romulus. "We spend 45 minutes talking with our subjects before we take any pictures."

At Captured Glamour in Farmington Hills, Boudoir photography has added a spark to more than one relationship.

"One guy took a look at the picture of his girlfriend and proposed to her on the spot,"

General Manager Carol Goren said. "Some girls have seen their picture and cried afterward."

"We've photographed a 74-year-old woman, some less-than-perfect looking woman and some very heavy women. It doesn't matter about their appearance because we will take the most breath-taking beautiful photograph of them in their life."
